European Union Aviation Safety Agency

FAQ n.104948

FAQs:

Emergency evacuations, Supplemental Type Certificates

Question:

Regarding emergency evacuation, do you think safe and normal the policy of low cost company that separates wife and husband or family and kids older than 12?

Answer:

EASA is not aware of any policies that forecast intentional separation of kids and parents in commercial aviation. Beyond this statement, specific policies for special categories of passengers fall into the remit of EASA Air Operation regulations.
