

Plenary B

Performance-Based Regulations & Oversight

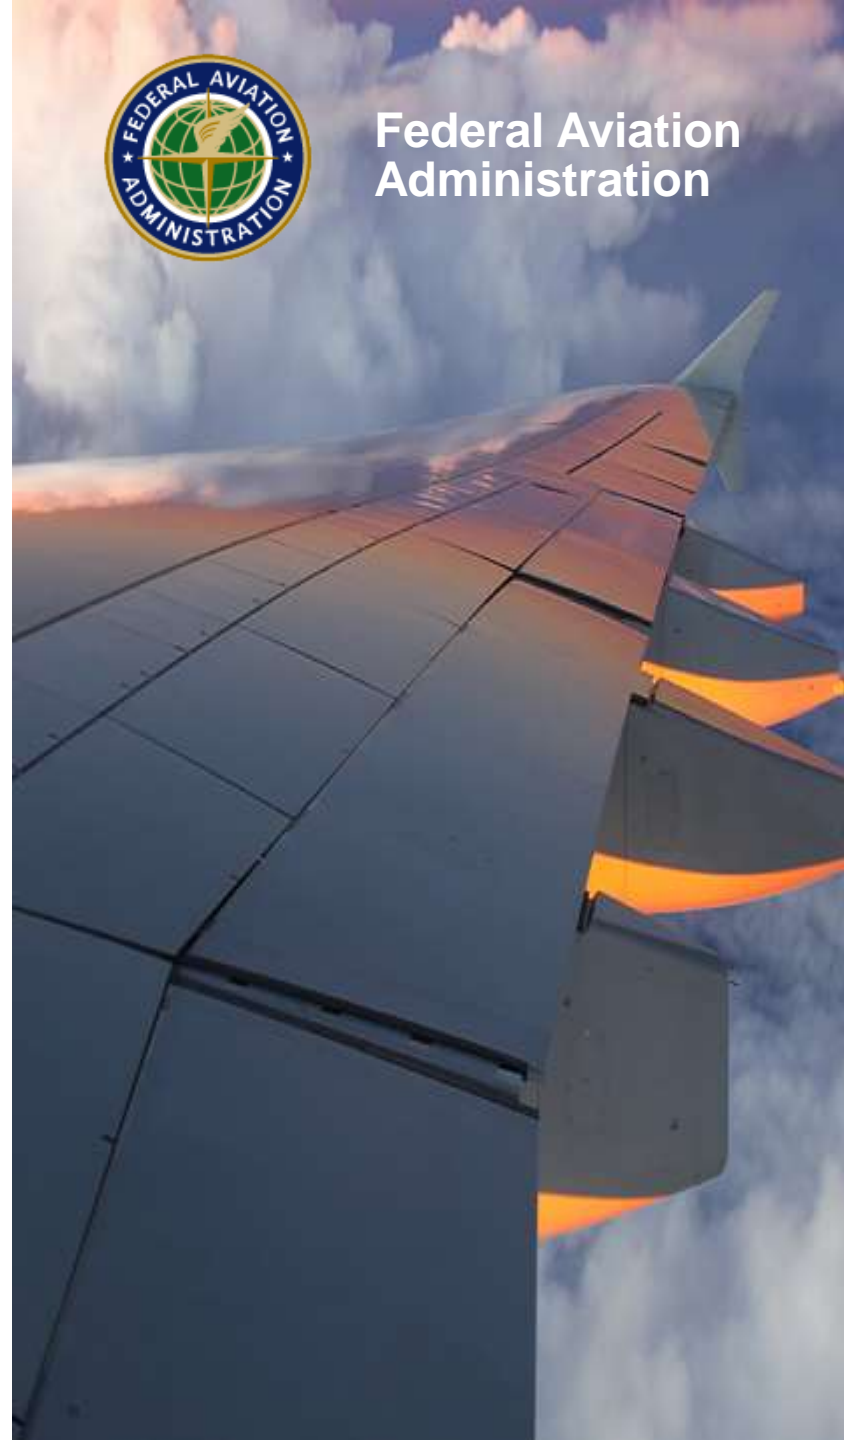

Presented to: EASA-FAA International
Aviation Safety Conference

By: John Duncan, Director
FAA Flight Standards Service

Date: 15 June 2017

Federal Aviation
Administration

Using Performance-Based Regs

Operator must:

- Operate in accordance with both the letter and spirit of the law
- Take a proactive approach that considers outcomes and performance
- Develop and implement risk controls appropriate to the operational environment.
- Establish procedures that encourage useful reporting.

Regulator must:

- Focus on willingness and ability to comply, not outcome of an event
- Train workforce to develop a collaborative, transparent relationship with operators
- Put focus on find, fix, monitor approach to compliance
- Use interdependence and critical thinking to evaluate means of compliance

Open Communication – Collaboration – Robust Reporting

