

Niclas DZIKUS

Aerospace engineer holding a diploma degree and a PhD title with a strong interest in transportation technologies, policies and strategies for sustainable mobility. More than 12 years experience as a researcher at the national center for aerospace, energy and transportation research of Germany (DLR). Main and co-author of numerous scientific publications. Since 2021 Seconded National Expert to the European Commission at DG Research & Innovation, Unit "Clean Transport Transitions".

