

Dr. Lisa Ernle

Lisa Ernle is an atmospheric scientist specialized in non-CO₂ emission measurement. She is working as an Emissions Expert at EASA and has previously worked at Max Planck Institute in the field of atmospheric and emission measurements for many years. Within SAE E-31 and CAEP WG3 she is involved in the development of standards and policy regulations for engine emissions.