

EASA

European Union Aviation Safety Agency

protecting the ECQB

THE QUESTIONS USED FOR THE THEORETICAL KNOWLEDGE EXAMINATIONS OF PILOTS IN EUROPE (PROFESSIONAL LICENCES AND INSTRUMENT RATINGS) ARE TAKEN FROM THE EUROPEAN CENTRAL QUESTION BANK (ECQB).

IT IS IN EVERYONE'S INTEREST THAT THE QUESTIONS REMAIN CONFIDENTIAL AND THAT PILOT EXAMINATIONS ARE CONDUCTED IN A FAIR AND OBJECTIVE MANNER.

HOW TO REPORT VIOLATIONS

You can report any suspected violation to EASA (anonymously if you wish) using a dedicated form.

You will find the form, as well as more information on the ECQB, at:
<http://www.easa.europa.eu/easa-and-you/aircrew-and-medical/european-central-question-bank-ecqb>

Contact:
ecqb@easa.europa.eu

Important information on the European Central Question Bank

The ECQB is a bank of some 10,000 questions used across EASA Member States*.

The questions and answers contained in the ECQB are subject to copyright protection.

The intellectual property rights of the ECQB belong to EASA and the Member States.

Copying, distributing and selling the ECQB questions not only constitutes copyright violation but may have serious negative consequences for aviation safety.

Any attempt to copy, reproduce, or distribute the questions is therefore forbidden.

Violations will be investigated by competent authorities and appropriate enforcement actions may be taken.

* EU Member States as well as Iceland, Liechtenstein, Norway and Switzerland

