

Details for potential speakers

By sharing experience and best practices, the speakers should explain how SMS has been actually deployed in their organisations from a practical perspective; how/why it has been found effective and efficient; return of experience, lessons learnt and next steps. The ultimate objective is to demystify and make SMS implementation doable in a simple manner so that organisations, notably the small- or medium-sized ones, can bring home some thoughts, ways forward or guidance easy to implement.

This event, organised by the SMICG, will bring together experts from national authorities and European industry, providing an opportunity for aviation industry to receive information directly from authorities that are working together on Safety Management System (SMS) and for those authorities to receive feedback on SM ICG products.

Please confirm your intention to present at this event by sending an email to safety.management@easa.europa.eu by 19 October 2018.
