European Union Aviation Safety Agency

FAQ n.136736

FAQs:

Instructions for Continued Airworthiness (ICA), Initial Airworthiness, Regulations

Question:

Can design approval holder's (DAH's) SB or Vendor Service Bulletins (VSB) be ICA or is this limited to Manuals, like CMMs?

Answer:

In general, DAH's SB and VSB could be an ICA, depending on the instructions contained.

The guidance material refers to CMMs as an example for supplier data, but that does not exclude other documents per se (refer to AMC2 21.A.7(a) Identification of ICA, para (b)).

Last updated:

04/07/2022

Link:

https://www.easa.europa.eu/en/faq/136736