The International Cooperation Forum (ICF) was born in October 2008. This initiative was an answer from EASA to all partners that were interested in the adoption/adaptation of the European Civil Aviation Regulations.

The aim of the Forum is to share experience and knowledge among states and authorities adopting EASA standards and to update the participants on the latest developments in European aviation safety legislation. The first International Cooperation Forum was held in October 2008 in Cologne, Germany.

Our main target are the Authorities of those non-eu countries interested in using EASA/EU regulation.
