

FAQs:Aircrew, RegulationsQuestion:

I have successfully passed the CB-IR theoretical knowledge examinations – what instrument rating can I use this for?

Answer:

According to point FCL.035 to Aircrew Regulation, someone who has successfully passed the IR(A) theoretical knowledge examination (including via the CB-IR(A) route) can use this towards their IR(A), or also for credit towards the Basic IR. If the candidate is seeking to obtain an IR in another aircraft category, additional training at an ATO must be completed.

Last updated:

22/03/2023

Link:

<https://www.easa.europa.eu/et/faq/137737>