Part-NCC/NCO, Air Operations, Regulations

Question:

Do NCC operators with non-EU registered aircraft need to maintain two different Operations Manuals?

Answer:

The European provisions for the structure of the Operations Manual are specified in AMC2 ORO.MLR.100. The structure is very flexible and – where needed – could be amended through an alternative means of compliance.

It is strongly advised that the operator work with a single Operations Manual, which should address the specified minimum items of the State of the Operator and the State of Registry.
