

Non-EU residents visiting Europe

Are you planning on bringing your drone to Europe?
Find out what you need to do:

- If you want to operate your drone in an EASA country (EU States, Norway, Liechtenstein, Switzerland and Iceland) you need to register as a drone operator with the National Aviation Authority of the first EASA country you intend to operate from.
- Once you are registered in your host EASA country, this will be valid across the rest of EASA countries. You can't register in another EASA country.
- You then need to comply with the European Drone Regulations and enjoy your flight!
