09:30 H – 10:30 H	Keynote Discussion: General Aviation in Europe – towards simpler, lighter and better rules The discussion focuses on the need for proportionate rules for General Aviation, the momentum of change towards simplifying the regulatory framework and the work already underway towards this direction.  Moderator: Mr Torkell Saetervadet, Executive editor, Flynytt – Norway’s GA magazine. Mr Grant V. Shapps, Member of Parliament -UK, Minister without Portfolio Mr Patrick Ky, Executive Director, EASA Mr Olivier Onidi, Act. Director Aviation & International Transport Affairs, European Commission
10:30 H – 11:00 H	COFFEE BREAK
11:00 H – 12:30 H	Panel 1: Is General Aviation safe enough? The panel discusses this, as well as other similar questions: Does General Aviation need to become safer or is it safe enough for the purposes of the activity? If the level of risk is acceptable by those undertaking the activity, should further safety improvements be pursued? The questions are not philosophical, but critical for the future direction of GA.  Moderator: Mr Patrick Ky, EASA, Executive Director Mr Pekka Henttu, Finnish Transport Safety Agency, Director General Mr Andrew Haines, UK Civil Aviation Authority, Chief Executive Dr Earl F. Weener, NTSB, Member of the Board Mr Patrick Gandil, French DGAC, Director General Mr Peter Bunce, GAMA, President & CEO Mr Martin Robinson, IAOPA UK, Senior Vice President

14:00 H – 15:30 H	Panel 2: European General Aviation – A diverse landscape General Aviation by its historical nature reflects many aspects of the regional diversity found in Europe. From sea-level to mountain flying and from back-garden landing strips to officially licensed aerodromes; safety expectations may differ and with them regulations. In one country lack of regulations means freedom to undertake an activity; in another country it can mean prohibition, because rules do not exist to describe the limits of the activity.
